FIRE CHIEF TAKES POSSESSION OF FISCHER PLANT, CONTENTS OF PAINT DRUM AT CITY LABORATORY

Blast Hurls Rock Through Wagner Roof; BPW Scores WPA Men's 'Lack of Care'

Resolution Is Adopted That Letter Go to Manager Hallinan Asking Greater Precautions Be Taken

Cites 'Epidemic'

City Engineer Points to 'Epidemic'; Hallinan Defends Workmen

Another blasting accident in which a rock was hurled through the roof of the residence of Michael Wagner, 233 East Chester street, on Tuesday afternoon, was brought to the attention of the Board of Public Works at its regular monthly meeting at the city hall, and led the board to direct that a communication be addressed to County Manager Arthur F. Hallinan of the WPA asking that greater precautions be taken to avoid injury to men and damage to property.

City Engineer James Norton called the board's attention to the "epidemic of blasting accidents on WPA projects," and said that it had been reported to his office that a blast set off by WPA workers had crashed a rock through the roof of the Wagner residence. It was also reported that the blast in two of the rooms in the residence of William Mayer at 219 East Chester street, had been cracked by the same blast.

After discussing the matter the board adopted a resolution directing that a communication be sent to Mr. Hallinan to the effect that the "epidemic of blasting accidents on WPA projects" has resulted in damage to private property as a result of faulty blasting operations on the part of the WPA workers; that the attention of the WPA superintendent has been called to the lack of proper procedure by the city engineer.

While the public works board assumes no responsibility in the matter in that men employed on WPA projects in the city are employees of the federal government, in the interest of public safety, the public works board requested the WPA officials to exercise a greater degree of care and to see to it that the blasters use the blasting mats and logs provided by the city to protect not only the men but private property.

Hallinan's Statement
"Only licensed blasters are used on blasting WPA projects in Kingston," said County Manager Arthur F. Hallinan of the WPA when, seen at his office on East Strand today. Mr. Hallinan said he did not care to comment on the criticisms leveled at blasting operations at the Board of Public Works meeting on Tuesday afternoon as he has no desire to enter into a controversy on the subject with any one.

In reply to questions Mr. Hallinan said that every complaint that had been made as to damage from blasting operations carried on by the WPA had been carefully investigated, and that any damage that had occurred had been of a minor nature.

Mr. Hallinan, replying to further questions, contended that the investigation had disclosed that the blasters had been careful in their work.

Annual Report
The annual report of the superintendent of the board was submitted by Acting Superintendent Roland E. Green. The report showed that during the year it had cost the city $20,926.57 to keep the streets clean.

During the fall months it had cost $3,379.54 to pick up the leaves that had fallen in the streets. The use of the power sweeper had greatly reduced the cost of removing the leaves from the streets this year. There were (Continued on Page Eight)

U. S. Will Double Lending Power as Impetus to Trade

Washington, Dec. 14 (AP).—Doubling of the lending power of the export-import bank, it was learned today, will be the first step in the Roosevelt administration's new program to expand trade between the United States and Latin America.

After doing business for nearly five years with its original $21,000,000 capital, which automatically limited its lending to that amount, the government-owned bank is ready to sell about $25,000,000 more stock to the Reconstruction Finance Corporation. The RFC furnished the original capital. It is committed to buy the new stock, and only for a limited time to be completed. The bank demonstrated the scale on which it is prepared to lend by announcing late yesterday a $10,000,000 advance to the International Telephone and Telegraph Corporation to expand communication facilities in Brazil, Argentina, Chile and Peru.

The bank's principal activity heretofore has been giving immediate payment to United States exporters for goods sold in Latin America when exchange or credit conditions made prompt settlement impossible.

Reversion Clause Raises Unusual Points at Hearing

Property Involved Is Methodist Episcopal Church, Upper Lackawack; Deed Is Dated in 1885

The commission named to fix a valuation upon lands to be taken by the city of New York for construction of the new reservoir on the Rondout at Lackawack, in the section known as Delaware Section 8, which covers parcels mostly in Sullivan county, found themselves faced with a rather interesting legal question on the occasion of their first hearing Monday.

The property in question is that of the Methodist Episcopal Church of upper Lackawack, being parcel No. 1341 in the takings and located near the boundary between Ulster and Sullivan counties. There is a church building and at the rear another building consisting of a shed with a hall overhead.

The land involved has a total acreage of 492 acres. The larger portion of this was given to the church by the late Samuel J. Porter, but a small strip in the rear was later purchased, to provide room for the erection of the said hall.

The main question at issue arises over the fact that the deed of the land on which the church contains a reversion clause, as a result of which the city of New York claims that the buildings erected are personal property and that the city is liable only for the value of the land.

The deed in question was given by Samuel J. and Rachel Porter to the trustees of the upper Lackawack Church and is dated May 1, 1885. The pertinent clause in the deed provides that, "in case such building shall cease being used for a church the land above described reverts to them or their heirs, but the trustees or their successors in office shall have the right to remove all buildings from the premises."

It is further provided that such removal shall be within six months after the time the buildings cease to be used for church purposes.

It is claimed for the city that this provision, in effect, makes the church buildings personal property, which might be removed and for which it is not liable.

Further it is claimed by Mrs. Connie Smith of Elmira, who is the daughter and surviving heir of Samuel J. Porter, that she is entitled, under the provisions of the reversionary clause in the will, to any award made by the commission for the land.

Memel Soon to Be Annexed

Berlin Diplomatic Quarters Express Belief Hitler Would Take Territory Soon Into Greater Reich—Might Fall on Anniversary

Berlin, Dec. 14 (AP).—Berlin diplomatic quarters expressed belief today that annexation of Memel territory by Adolf Hitler's greater Germany is but a matter of weeks.

Events were believed moving at such a fast pace that Hitler might be able to call the Reichstag together January 30—the sixth anniversary of his rise to power—to welcome 150,000 Memel-Germans into the fatherland.

Diplomatic quarters felt that conditions had ripened within the 1,093 square miles of territory which Lithuania took from Germany after the World War for a decisive step late in January when the newly chosen Memel Diet (Parliament) meets.

It was believed that the almost unanimously German Diet—elected Sunday on the issue of the people's avowal to Germany—would precipitate the issue by voting that Memel belongs to Germany.

In that fashion Hitler would be invited to step in, these quarters reasoned, on the basis that it was the will of the people of Memel.

The Fuehrer has troops handy in the strongly-manned garrisons of Tilsit and Koenigsberg, in adjoining East Prussia, to take advantage of the invitation.

50 Writs Are Issued For McKesson Survey

Attorney Gives No Publicity to Names of Those on Subpoenas—Thompson Testifies as to Why He First Became Suspicious of Financial Wrong-Doing

New York, Dec. 14 (AP).—The federal government issued 50 subpoenas today for Wall street operators, prominent brokers and officials of McKesson and Robbins, Inc., in its investigation of the reported shortage of $18,000,000 in the giant drug firm's listed assets.

At the same time Julian F. Thompson, treasurer and director of the firm, began testifying at Attorney General John J. Bennett, Jr.'s investigation of how he became suspicious that something was financially wrong with the crude drugs department where the alleged shortage occurred.

Assistant U. S. Attorney Lester C. Dunigan, in charge of the federal inquiry, did not make public the names of those for whom subpoenas were issued.

The firm filed a federal court petition last Thursday to reorganize under Chapter XI of the Federal Bankruptcy Act. The securities change commission is a party to this proceeding.

The crude drugs department was under the supervision of George E. Dietrich, assistant treasurer, who took orders from F. Donald Coster, president of the firm since 1926. Coster and Dietrich, for whom federal warrants charging violation of the SEC act were issued yesterday, were arrested today in Fairfield, Conn., and held under $5,000 bond each.

George Vernard, Montreal representative of W. W. Smith & Co., English agents for the firm, was also ordered arrested. U. S. Commissioner Garrett W. Cotter was advised by telephone that Vernard would surrender here today.

Thompson, a director of the drug concern since 1928 and its treasurer for the past eight years, said that he, as a broker, assisted in the 1928 merger of McKesson and Robbins and 17 wholesale drug houses in the United States.

He met Coster in 1925, he told Assistant Attorney General Alvrose V. McCall. Coster at that time was operating a drug manufacturing firm in Mount Vernon, N. Y., known as Girard and Company, and was trying to put his stock on the market.

The next time he met Coster, Thompson said, was in the following year when Coster had an option to buy McKesson and Robbins, excepting the real estate, for $1,000,000. Connecticut bankers, including the Bridgeport City Trust Company and R. F. Briggs and Company of Waterbury, financed the deal and acquired the firm for Coster, Thompson testified.

Thompson said he had checked about 15 references Coster gave him but did not inquire into his personal background. "Have you ever read of Coster being in difficulties with the federal authorities?" asked McCall. "I have since learned that on one or two occasions goods were seized but there was no penalty," Thompson said. "Did you know whether Coster was ever arrested in connection with the prohibition law?" "No."

The witness said Coster dominated the corporation, the approximate sales of which were $140,000,000 in 1929.

Invitation Is Given To Grange for 1939 State Convention

Organization, Now Meeting at Jamestown Also Bidden by Four Other Cities; 91 Resolutions on Floor

Kingston is one of five communities which has extended an invitation to the State Grange for sessions of its 1939 convention.

Other cities, according to The Associated Press, are Amsterdam, Syracuse, Schenectady and Hornell.

The Grange, which now is in convention at Jamestown, considered today 31 resolutions, including two on the proposed St. Lawrence river seaway and power project.

The committees will report on the resolutions which were placed before the state convention later this week.

The Jefferson county delegation offered a resolution which urged early action on the seaway and power project. Last year the State Grange voted to favor "quick ratification" of the necessary treaty with Canada and early development of the project.

The Herkimer county Grange introduced a resolution which opposed the proposed treaty "as it stands, as being unfavorable to the United States."

Resolutions introduced by the Erie county Grange opposed any government re-organization "except for purposes of economy" and urged legislation removing income tax exemption from public salaries.

State Master Raymond Cooper of Oswego recommended a thorough study of tax budgets by subordinate and county Granges as well as the State Grange to determine possible tax savings.

The Onondaga county delegation proposed a point tax study by all farm organizations in a resolution offered yesterday.

All resolutions were referred to committees without debate.

Dr. H. J. Parrott, director of station at Geneva, who said the Grange sponsored the experiment at station 50 years ago, described new processes for utilizing surplus milk in a report on work at the station.

Dr. Parrott said he could "tentatively" announce a new method of canning American cheese. He didn't explain the method, but said it "will soon be made available for use by the industry of the state."

He said investigations "are well along" on the possibility of a greater utilization of surplus milk through new fermented canned milk drinks, and added that the station has announced an improvement in standard methods of milk analysis "which will give the dairyman a fairer evaluation of the quality of his product."

Dr. Parrott said the "two great problems which face the dairy farmer are the utilization of dairy surplus and the economical production of high quality products."

He described a method of "flash pasteurization" of fruit juices by a low temperature.

"General adoption of this process in this state will mean utilization for juice of millions of bushels of fruit annually," Dr. Parrott asserted.

Woman, 77, Sues Because of Fall In Rented House

Injuries suffered by a fall on a cellar steps in a rented house in New Paltz is the basis of a negligence action brought in Supreme Court before Justice Foster and a jury by Barbara Dauch, 77 years old.

Barbara Dauch, 77 years old, of New Paltz, is the plaintiff in the case.

Mrs. Dauch contends that she and her daughter and son in law rented a house from the defendant in New Paltz and took possession about July 27, 1936, and that on July 20, 1936, she suffered a fall in which she broke her hip.

Plaintiff and Mrs. Dauch Chester A. Cramm rented the house and entered on the premises a few days prior to August first, when the lease commenced, with the permission of the owner.

Mrs. Dauch claims that three days later she entered the cellar, in which there was no light, and as she stepped on a platform at the bottom of the steps it tipped up and she was thrown down and suffered the serious injury.

Mr. Cramm, a retired New York freeman, testified that the platform was not attached to the steps but lay loose on a sewer pipe in such a manner that it tipped when one stepped on the edge.

Dr. Saul Ritchie of this city testified to treatments given plaintiff.

DuBois J. Gillette appears for the plaintiff and Peter H. Harp for the defendant. The defendant claims the house was in proper order and that she had it inspected by a carpenter and made ready for tenants.

Compilation Shows Democrats Got 49 Per Cent House Vote

Washington, Dec. 14 (AP).—A countrywide compilation showed today that Democrats polled 49 per cent of the vote for members of the House of Representatives in the November 8 election. Republicans received 47.8 per cent, and minor party candidates 3.2 per cent.

The Democratic figure fell from 60.2 per cent of the party's presidential vote in 1936 and 53.4 per cent of the vote for representatives in 1934.

The tabulation, compiled principally from officially-certified returns, showed the 1938 vote for representatives aggregated 35,816,720. This was the largest ever recorded in an off-year election. Democratic candidates received 17,559,031 votes, Republicans 17,120,557, and other candidates 1,127,082.

Republicans achieved their greatest gains in the east and mid-west, polling 51 per cent of the vote in both sections. In 1936, they received only 40.4 per cent of the presidential vote in the east, and in 1934 they polled 42.3 per cent of the vote for representatives. In the midwest, the party received only 38.4 per cent of the 1936 vote and 43.3 per cent of the 1934 vote.

Democrats maintained pluralities in the west, with 51.9 per cent of the total vote, and in the south, with 77.3 per cent.

Morehouse Tells Of 4-H Congress

An Ulster county young man, William Morehouse, of Lake Katrine, was one of the 1,500 4-H Club members and leaders from the United States, Alaska, Provinces of Canada and Hawaii to attend the National 4-H Club Congress at Chicago. Here is Bill's own story of this educational trip.

"I considered myself to be very lucky to be chosen to represent Ulster county at National Club Congress at Chicago. It was a trip I will long remember and one in which I hope all of you will try for."

"I met the train at Albany and left there at noon Saturday. There was a special 4-H coach with a diner attached. There were only about 4-Hrs on the train at Albany, the majority got on at Syracuse. We had our meals on the diner and arrived in Detroit at 11 p. m.

"After breakfast Sunday, we went to Ford's Greenfield Village. This was perhaps one of the best parts of the trip. It proved to be a very interesting tour, one in which I hope all of you will have the pleasure of seeing. We left Detroit at about noon and arrived in Chicago that evening. We went to the Congress Hotel, got our rooms there and then registered for Club Congress at the Auditorium Hotel, across the street. (It was from here that our tours started led by the Iowa Band).

"The tours which we had at Chicago were as follows: Monday, International Live Stock Exposition; Tuesday, plants of Swift and Company and Armour and Company, Art Institute; Wednesday, Tractor Works of International Harvester and McCormick Works; Thursday, Field Museum, Aquarium and Planetarium. We left Chicago that morning and stayed at Niagara Falls that night.

"These are a few of the outstanding features, but there were many more smaller things which

I have not mentioned but which contributed to make it a perfect trip. I have not made mention of the entertainments or banquets which we had but I can say that they were numerous and contributed largely to making our stay in Chicago a very pleasant one.

"To all 4-H's I say, this trip will long linger in my memory and I would like to see all of you trying for this trip. It certainly is worth the effort and although all of you can't win, you can at least say you tried. I guarantee you would never have half as good a time if you went there on a trip for yourself. It takes a 4-H group like this to really have a good time."

William Morehouse has completed his eighth year of club work and is one of Ulster's outstanding 4-H Club garden members. He was alternate on the New York State Vegetable Judging Team and has participated in County, State and National Crops Judging Contests.

A yarn from a yarn shop

The proprietress of a knitting shop was busy with a yarn salesman when a telephone man stopped in for a renewal of her contract for advertising space in the telephone directory. Scarcely looking up, she told him to renew it on the same basis.

Knowing that the space was adequate for her needs, the telephone man filled out the contract. The proprietress signed without reading it. When the yarn salesman asked if she didn't think it a bit dangerous to sign a contract without reading it, she replied:

"He's from the telephone company."

While we do not advocate the signing of any contract without reading it, we none the less appreciate the expression of confidence in telephone people. We are doing our best to deserve your approval and it will help us if you will let us know whenever you think we are falling down in our endeavor. New York Telephone Company.

December 15 Set As Deadline for Adding New Names

Needy children who might be overlooked by Santa Claus on his visit here on Christmas Eve total some 1,900. It was brought out Tuesday afternoon at the meeting of the Mayor's Christmas Cheer Committee.

New names have been added to the list from day to day, and Mrs. Harry B. Walker, general chairman, said that December 15 has been fixed as the deadline for adding new names to Santa's list. The time was established so that the committee would be prepared to know definitely just how many children would have to be taken care of.

Funds to be used in purchasing needed toys, clothing and other articles are needed, and those who have contributed and who wish to add to their contribution may do so, as well as those who have not already contributed. This money will be carefully expended so that it will not be wasted, and every cent will be used to bring joy to the hearts of the children.

Police and firemen are still busy collecting discarded toys and games which are being renovated in Santa Claus's workshops in the Central Fire Station, Wiltwyck engine house and Cornell engine house.

Defendant Wins In Injury Case

A verdict in favor of the defendant was returned by the jury Tuesday in the action brought by Rose Colletto of the town of Marlborough against Father Salvatore Celastro, Bronx priest, who was driving his Buick car back in 1931 when it left the road near Lathinwood and went over a bank, injuring Rose.

Plaintiff claimed the accident was caused by the negligence and through the fault of the driver of the car while he contended that the car left the road because of a rough, stony condition which caused him to lose control of the car when the front wheel struck some obstruction which whipped the wheel out of his hand and he proceeded at about 8 to 10 miles an hour.

Vincent J. Cuffi and N. LeVan Haver appeared for the plaintiff and A. J. Cook for the defendant. The case was sent to the jury early in the day after testimony had been completed at the morning session and summations and charge then were taken up.

Proerty Dispute Results in Arrest

Trouble over the boundary lines between the property of Paul Csics of 42 Clarendon avenue and that of Cecelia D. Young, led to the arrest of Csics on the complaint of Mrs. Young, who is his sister-in-law.

This morning Judge Cahill in police court held Csics to await the action of the grand jury and held bail at $200.

It is alleged that Csics entered upon the Young property and removed boundary markers that had been set up on the boundary line established by an order in supreme court.

Muriagh Dowling of 235 West O'Reilly street, charged with disorderly conduct in loitering about Abbey street, had his hearing adjourned until later in police court.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, DECEMBER 14, 1938.

THE CASE FOR ECONOMY

At the annual tax sale held recently by City Treasurer Elmendorf, three hundred and five properties were offered for sale, the city of Kingston being forced to bid in two hundred eighty-three properties. The city treasurer states that the amount of unpaid taxes for 1938 was approximately $50,000. That the taxpayers who have to foot the bills are continuing to suffer severe reductions in their incomes is evidenced in the long list of properties which are offered each year for unpaid taxes. At the 1937 tax sale the city was forced to bid in two hundred eighty-seven properties. These properties are in addition to the properties sold for delinquent taxes in preceding years and still unredeemed.

Besides the tax delinquency problem, the city also is faced with properties on its hands which it seized following the expiration of the time for redemption. When the city seizes properties for delinquent taxes, the burden on the other local properties becomes greater because the tax-seized real estate is removed from the assessment rolls. This constant pyramiding against those who are now in a position to pay their taxes should move officials to arrive at as low a tax rate as possible. Any effort consistent with efficient administration of the city's business that is made to keep the tax rate down will be appreciated by all taxpayers.

A hearing on the proposed city budget will soon be held and if any measure of economy is to be achieved it will require the full cooperation of all taxpayers and officials. In making up the budget it also is well to bear in mind that there is a very real economic way to conduct a municipality and that is to keep within the budget.

The serious financial condition of the taxpayers and their ability to pay for services does not apply only to the taxpayers of the city of Kingston but also to county residents. This also is demonstrated by the large list of properties in the county districts now being advertised for sale for delinquent taxes.

Taxpayers who are trying to live within their own drastically reduced circumstances are hard hit by increased government taxes. The federal government apparently is willing to make no sacrifice at all in its spending, extending its taxing to the limit of the people's power to pay. With the government dipping into everybody's pocketbooks it appears up to local government to pave the way in government economy by wielding the economy axe on departmental budget requests.

ONLY MONKEYS

Our human comparisons between men and monkeys are usually heavily weighted, as a statistician would say, in favor of the former. But are we necessarily right about it? Doubts arise, after reading some observations by Rolf Loveland of the Cleveland Plain Dealer, on a colony of monkeys living at Western Reserve University—not as students, but as assistants in the anatomical department of the School of Medicine.

"The mamma monkeys," writes the philosopher Mr. Loveland, "get along quite amicably, picking things (mostly imaginary) off each other's backs. They are considerably more peaceful than a good many civilized nations. They do not rave and rant at each other, do not make radio speeches, do not hold military reviews. But of course they are only monkeys, and you can't expect monkeys to be as smart as human beings.

"There are 26 rhesus monkeys in the Reserve colony. Six of them are baby monkeys, who cling tightly to their mothers' hair. They were born last May, and have not yet learned the goose step, or started hollering for each other's colonies. But of course they are only monkeys.

Three things that these monkeys require, observes Dr. T. Wingate Todd, distinguished professor of anatomy, are good food, congenial company and privacy. They particularly insist on peace and privacy at their meals. So the university has made for them a series of dinettes, where each can eat in peace and quiet.

"But suppose," said the reporter, "that one monkey hops into a dinette where another monkey is already eating. Is there a terrible scrap?"

"Not at all," replied Dr. Todd. "One of the two will courteously hop out and go to another stall."

That is too utterly sensible, concludes the newspaper man. "But of course they're only monkeys!"

TROUBLESOME WHEAT

The problem of what to do with their bumper wheat crops is now troubling the 21 member nations of the International Wheat Advisory Committee. The chairman has called a meeting to be held in London, beginning January 10. They will consider "the present wheat crisis" and "what action the committee should recommend to the constituent governments to cope with that crisis." The wheat-growing countries are said to be perilously near a "dumping war" which would have too many unpleasant consequences.

Practically all the wheat-growing countries had bumper crops last season. Even France, which is not normally a wheat-exporting country, has more than enough to meet its domestic requirements and is looking for outside markets.

Several governments have fixed the price of wheat above the world market price, but the wheat remains and must be disposed of. Domestic regulation has not been successful in any country that has tried it. There is doubt that international regulation will get very far unless the wheat governments give the surplus outright to communities that wouldn't buy it.

It is absurd that such a situation should exist when there are so many people in the world who need bread. If the wheat-surplus countries can't sell the grain, why not give it to the starving Chinese? Or would Japan object?

 EXERCISE IN HEART DISEASE

One of the points that was taught us as medical students was the use of exercise in weak or failing hearts. Today the first thought in treating an acute heart ailment—angina, coronary thrombosis, high blood pressure—is absolute rest in order to give the heart a chance to regain some of its strength or "rest" and because rest is the money treatment at this time, patients and sometimes physicians are apt to indulge in or prescribe rest when what the heart really needs to gain new strength is exercise.

A popular treatment in former years was what was known as the Nauehm bath and the Schott method of "resistive" exercise in which the patient exercises his muscles against the resistance of the physician's or attendant's hands.

In speaking of exercise in the treatment of chronic (not recent) heart and blood vessel disease, Dr. Louis Fangeres Bishop, Jr., New York, in Archives of Physical Therapy, X-ray, Radium, states that with bed patients, massage, breathing exercises, and "resistive" exercises are beneficial in that they help to force the blood in the veins back to the heart.

What is known as the Oerfel method of exercise consists of graded walks carried out until the patient begins to feel the effects of the exercise by very rapid breathing. Beginning on the level, the walks are increased gradually with regard to distance and incline or steepness. The fact that this exercising gets the patient outdoors helps the mental as well as the physical condition.

For less severe cases, where the patient is up and about most of the time, Dr. Bishop suggests that as it is difficult to know exactly how much exercise the patient can take safely, he should be allowed to tell how his everyday manner of working and how much resting affects the patient the physician can get a fair idea of the strength of the heart and how much work it can do safely.

The stair test or exercise has been much used. Some heart patients live entirely on the ground floor but Dr. Bishop points out that if they climbed the stairs one step at a time, it might become a heart strengthening and safe exercise.

The thought then is that after the heart has been rested in bed and by sitting around for some time, some form of exercise, as directed by the physician, strengthens the heart muscle and prevents patient from becoming an invalid.

THE ARMY POST MURDERS

By Virginia Hanson

Chapter 35

'How Did He Do It?'

"It was Elizabeth, Barney wanted to marry—" Annie said. "Then what happened?" I asked. "Anne Carewe happened, that's what. She's a bitter jealous one and she wants what belongs to others. She'd had Barney for a while, and Elizabeth took him away from her, not by anything she did but just by being herself. So then Anne must have him back, and when all else fails she comes to Elizabeth herself and tells her there's reasons why Barney should marry her. I think myself she was stretching the truth, and whether it was the truth or not made little difference in Elizabeth's eyes. She told him he'd have Anne to marry, and that was the end of that."

"But—but she couldn't make him!"

Annie smiled a wintry smile. "You don't know the ways of the service very well, yet, do you?" she asked gently. "There's a thing called 'conduct unbecoming an officer and a gentleman'; and there was an officer went on trial for his life."

"But it wouldn't have come to that here. All Elizabeth had to do was drop a hint to her father—and she would have done it too. It was either marry Anne or hand in his resignation. And they're not trained for much outside, these lads."

There was something I had to ask her, whether it was my business or not, whether it drew down her wrath or tore her stout old heart.

It did neither. "Anne my daughter?" she repeated coolly. "Do you think if she was I'd tell you? Do you think if she was I'd still see her faults?" She paused, went deep into memory. "My man was blackhearted with jealousy; but he was a good man for all that."

Her eyes rested on me, remembered me.

"Anne my daughter? She'd be proud to own me, wouldn't she? Me—the colonel's cook. Yes, I can see that if my girl had lived and Evvie Carewe's had not, that in those first black years I might have given her where she'd have a chance in life. I might. No, Elizabeth's all the daughter I've got. I've had the making of her, me and her father. We couldn't keep her from this kind of thing, but we made her strong. She'll get over this. She'll never forget it, but she'll get well of it."

Someone rapped lightly and stepped into the hall. "Anybody home?" came Mrs. Flower's piercing stage whisper. "Oh, here you are, Annie—and Kay."

She looked around inquiringly. "Elizabeth was all in—we made her go to bed," I said, and Annie's eyes met mine in gratitude. "She—she saw him, you know—afterward."

Mrs. Flower clucked sympathetically. "What a dreadful shock! If you were expecting it, I mean."

"I stared at her. 'You don't mean to say you were?'"

"Well—not exactly," I answered. "Not exactly. And I don't understand now he did it, even yet. What I mean to say—I was telling Flower or it must have been Barney. That was really why we went to the hospital—to tell Adam, only I didn't get a proper chance, and I think maybe he'd seen it already. That it had to be Barney, I mean. On account of the prize."

Breakfast

"THE—the what?" "The prize. You know, for the balloon dance. Lieutenant Shaw certainly said there was to be a prize. But we searched that place, don't you remember? Did you see a prize? Of course not. There wasn't any for the kitchen."

"I'll be fixing some breakfast," she said stolidly. "You'll be staying, Mrs. Flower. There was old-fashioned courtesy in the words and in the voice."

"Oh dear—there's Gilly; still, I suppose he'd had his. And I told Flower I'd wait for him here. Yes, thank you, Annie. I'll stay."

"All right, all doing?" I asked when the swinging door had closed on Annie.

"Ain'ting things," vaguely. "There were some reporters. How these things do get around!"

She gave a sudden little squeal. "My dear! I forgot to tell you! Imagine my forgetting that of all things when Adam sent me specially to tell you—and that he's all right, coming around nicely and nothing dislocated or anything

"I stood up and glared at her.

"Adam—hurt?"

"Oh no, no, no, no, no. Dear me, how clumsy I am. Not Adam. And not hurt. Charlie, I mean. We found him, you know, Flower and I, behind the shed at the target range. Barney had struck him. Anyway, he was knocked out. And nothing to be ashamed of, either, with Barney so much bigger and older, all and Charlie not expecting it, besides. Because while he was supposed to watch Barney, of course he thought that meant guarding Barney from the murderer and not the murderer from Barney—that is, of course Barney was the murderer; but what I mean to say, Charlie didn't dream that, and think Charlie was lucky it was only just a good clean blow."

For once in a lifetime she ran completely down. And in the moment of silence Lou Orpington appeared in the doorway. She had forgotten her toothbrush, and Mary Shaw was with her, and if it was all right they'd just come in and wait until the men got through with whatever they were doing; and oh no (vaguely), they'd had a bit of breakfast—they hadn't come for that—well, just a cup of coffee, if one were urged.

In the end they all came to breakfast—a casual but adequate meal for those who wanted it, presided over by Colonel Wright with as much charm and dignity as if the guests had just returned from a drag hunt instead of that vastly more grim morning pursuit of a man."

'We Were Dense'

NEVERTHELESS, there were a few empty plates when we escaped from the table into the living room, and there was no small talk when we had found places to sit—only questioning eyes fixed on Adam.

He had changed to gray uniform and was his old, immaculate self; but he was pale, and there were ghosts in his eyes.

"You'll be glad to learn that the chances of Anne's recovery are better every hour," he said gravely from his stand in front of the cold fireplace.

"How did he do it, Adam?" someone asked softly.

Adam glanced toward his colonel.

"You may as well tell them now," said the older man.

Adam said, as if continuing a previous conversation, "We were all dense. We might have seen it hours ago but for the fact that Barney was dancing with Anne and there were no powder marks around the wound. That was his alibi, and we did not question it."

"But we all, could not shoot the girl with whom he was dancing."

"The stabbing—yes. His alibi there was weak. He had just started back after sugar for the Shaws' coffee when the lights went out—so he said. Yet Shaw drank his coffee and remarked afterward that he wondered what was wrong with it. You didn't drink that coffee in the dark, did you, Shaw?"

"That's a fact," admitted Shaw, his face long with chagrin. "It was not too—thought it would never cool."

"Then about the light in the dressing room. He could see that wrap on the rack when he passed the door. He had to go out the stage entrance, and the open door to the room and the open door to the stairs. To give himself a margin of safety he wanted the light out, and he had to turn it out from the ballroom side. There was not much risk to that—he didn't know Lou was in the wash room—and the Shaws were some distance away in the lounge. But in case either of them saw him pause by that door he invented the fiction of having heard something. The weapon was in his car. He had taken it when he stopped by there to find Elizabeth. The outside door of the dressing room was unlocked, wasn't it, Kay?"

"Yes, I locked it afterward, when we were searching for the knife."

"He went in that way, snatched the wrap from the hanger, reached the balcony and saw Kay. He had to do some quick thinking then—there was no way to get past her without being seen. So he stepped into a vacant room, threw a rolled-up blanket on the floor, groaned and waited for her to come. You've all heard the straight story, haven't you? He had to come to the door, he had to do the short-circuited lights

Pillows Yield Trinkets

Rochester, N. Y. (UP)—Louis H. Brandt, who buys furs to five tons of feathers annually, says it is becoming increasingly mysterious to him how so many foreign objects get inside pillows. In renovating pillows in the last few weeks, his employees have picked from feathers in old pillows a peach pit, an acorn, a piece of coal, a pencil, several screws, a Russian coin, several pennies, a bead and a needle.

Despite the fact that passage from the ocean to Flathead Lake in Montana is cut off by the Polson dam, state game officials report the number of salmon that spawn in the lake each year seems to be increasing.

TIMELY ADVICE

Washington Daybook

By PRESTON GROVER

WASHINGTON—Members of Congress who like to get their teeth into a resounding phrase like "downtrodden farmer" or "equality of opportunity" are taking an awful beating in the early days of the monopoly investigation.

They brought it upon themselves, for they invited economists to put the bedrock under the inquiry and the economists set about doing it in a way that only economists can devise.

For four solid hours Isador Lubin, commissioner of statistics in the Labor Department, planned congressional and departmental members of the committee to their seats with a presentation of statistics the sum total of which ran far beyond billions.

Lubin is no fan dancer when it comes to holding an audience and in 20 minutes he had emptied a fourth of the seats in the once crowded Senate caucus room.

Two-thirds of the spectators had had enough by lunch time.

But the members of Congress could not walk out on their own hearing, especially since they had bailed-hooded it to the skies. They had to sit while Lubin told them, among other things, that based on 1929 national income the country had lost $133,000,000,000 during the depression, or, if figured another way, the loss was $225,000,000,000.

It is increasingly evident that neither members of the committee nor the general public had fully understood the magnitude of the investigation until the economists began staking out the foundation. If finished as outlined it will take ten months to two years of more or less continuous hearings.

Already it is widely speculated that ultimately the thing will narrow down to a battle of economists, each seeking to impose his pet theory of economic reform upon the committee when it comes to writing legislation. In that event the economist who wins the inside track with the committee will shape the legislation, regardless of stocks of tables, charts and horseback opinions.

Stamps In The News

When George II Tubou, king of Tonga, that little Polynesian kingdom under British protection, died in 1918, his daughter, Charlotte Mahele, was proclaimed queen.

The name of the late king was inscribed on a set of 60 stamps showing her majesty in her ermine-trimmed robe of state, standing beside her throne.

Decorating the frame are a coconut palm and banana leaves. The dates "1918-1938" appear in the island-language inscription across the bottom.

The values are 1-penny red and black, 2-penny violet and black and 3-penny blue and black.

Other Polynesian queens in philately's gallery are the late Makea Takau of Cook Islands, Emma, Kaploani and Liliuokalani of Hawaii.

Alpine flowers and scenery of the mountainous Austrian landscape dominate this year's issue of German winter relief stamps, reminding the world again that Austria is now part of the Reich. The nine denominations, ranging from 3 to 40 pfennigs, face value, exclusive of the charity surtax, went on sale November 18 and will continue to be sold until March 31. The surtax runs from 2 to 25 pfennigs.

Each stamp depicts a flower—cyclamen, Alpine rose, stemless gentian, the crocus and others—and all but the 6-pf also carry a scene.

The 3-pf shows Burgenland, a province in east Austria; 4-pf, the Florentine, a remarkable winding highway cut through the Alps; 5-pf, Bell am See; 6-pf, Gross-Glockner, highest of the Hohe Tauern mountains in east Tirol; 8-pf, Wachau; 12-pf, Vienna, an equestrian statue against a typical facade; 15-pf, Erzberg Steiermark, the iron mountain in Styria; 25-pf, a town hall in the Tyrol with its tower outlined against a snowy Alp; 40-pf, a scene in Braunau.

Moseley Says Nation Should Remain Aloof

New York, Dec. 14 (AP)—Maj.-Gen. George Van Horn Moseley, retired, advocated an international "mind our own business" policy for the United States today.

"Let us either have the character to use force in insisting that others live as we think they should, or, better, let us mind our own business as to the family life and internal affairs of our neighbors," the former commander of the Fourth Corps Area declared in an address prepared for delivery before the New York Board of Trade.

"Whether we like it or not, Japan is in very definite and complete control of the Far East," he said, adding that he favored "a settlement with Japan to insure a lasting peace throughout the Pacific with increasing trade for the United States."

Discussing Europe, Gen. Moseley said our interest there "should not be in the internal affairs of any nation, but rather in the maintenance of a balance of power assuring peace in our time."

HIGHLAND NEWS

Highland School Will Have Heat

Highland, Dec. 13.—It was learned at the Highland High School project the past week that final preparations have been completed for providing temporary heat in the main portion of the new building. This procedure is necessary in order that the interior work can be continued throughout the winter months. Most of the cash has been installed and all openings have been covered with temporary enclosures.

The cost of maintaining temporary heat will be borne to the extent of 10 eight-hour days by the Dierks Heating Company, Inc. as provided by contract. Any temporary heat required beyond that time will be the responsibility of the board of education.

The foundation for the nine-room addition to the new building has been completed and brick work has been started. The Thanksgiving storm delayed construction for a few days. However, Eugene Ossie, general contractor, resumed operations as soon as practicable and has been taking advantage of every hour of suitable working weather. In addition every possible precaution is being taken to guarantee good results.

Mr. Ossie has begun the work of installing metal lath. The work of plastering will be started within the next two weeks. John P. R. Hannan, resident engineer, inspector, PWA, has announced that the office of Colonel M. E. Gilmore, regional director, Federal Emergency Administration of Public Works, 2 Lafayette street, New York city, has approved the board of education's request to construct the nine-room addition without delay. This will result in considerably less expense to the school district. If the new work had been awarded on the basis of competitive bidding a great deal of confusion and delay have arisen in the event that other contractors than those employed on the project had been low bidders.

Col. Gilmore's office approved the following additions to the existing contracts to cover the cost of the new addition: Eugene Ossie, general construction, $49,400; Dierks Heating Co., Inc., heating and ventilating work, $8,000; Noll and Stearns plumbing work, $4,200; Walter R. Seaman, electrical work, $5,295.

W. C. T. U. Meets
Highland, Dec. 13.—A specially arranged W. C. T. U. meeting was held in the Methodist church parlor on Thursday afternoon at 1 o'clock. It was presided over by the president, Miss James R. Swift. The heads of the different departments each gave a talk which included Miss Fred Wilke, on peace; Miss Joel Smodes, citizenship; Miss Georgia Connell, flower mission; Miss S. A. McCona, Sunday school and Sabbath observance, Mrs. M. Teas, evangelist, Mrs. Victor Clearwater, Union Signal. The members also placed given tiny kinomins in which to place coins which will go to the alcohol education fund. Following the close of the meeting supper was served and the evening program held. Short talks were given with Peace as a general theme. On this subject Miss J. R. Millius, Miss Charles DuBois, and Miss Joel Smodes spoke. The Rev. S. A. MacCormac talked on Peace a Vital Force. William H. Donaldson and Miss Norma Donaldson of Milton added much to the service by a solo from the former. It is well with My Soul and a duet with Mr. Donaldson and his daughter, 'God Way is the Best Way' Miss Lulu Sutton, Miss Walter Beirne and Miss Calvin Cole of Clintonville.

New Officers Named
Highland, Dec. 13.—Miss D. H. Starr is the new president of the U. D. Society and with the other officers takes office on January 7 at the home of Miss Liza Raymond. With Miss Starr will be vice presidents, Miss W. H. Taber, Miss Fred Lewis Vall and Miss William Waterbury treasurer. Miss Belle Blackwell, the meeting, Saturday afternoon was held with Mrs. Waterbury who displayed many interesting objects. A fine old toad was over 200 years old as well as a 'cruiser'. A large piece of quilt of 1826, lace and a sampler that is rarely exceeded for beauty, a wedding ring enclosing the hair of each of the couple and a miniature of a young man presented to his coming bride in place of a ring. This was in the shape of a locket. The society made plans for Christmas giving to a few less fortunate through the sunline work. Attending the meeting were Mrs. J. Jerome Pratt, the president, Mrs. D. H. Starr, Mrs. J. W. Teas, Mrs. Fred Lewis Vall, Mrs. A. W. Williams, Mrs. Howard Wilcox, Mrs. Joseph Fieston, Mrs. Mabel Hasbrouck, Mrs. Alfred Lane, Mrs. Charles Champlin, Mrs. Abram Rhodes, Mrs. Charles Larnham, the Misses Belle B. Nelson, Latta Harcourt, Beitha Wisemiller, Eliza Raymond.

Personal Notes
Highland, Dec. 3.—Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Leonard drove up from East Orange, N. J., on Saturday to spend the day with the latter's mother, Mrs. Helen Deyo Brown. Mr. and Mrs. Allan Hasbrouck and family and Mrs. Mabel Hasbrouck drove to Larchmont Sunday to visit Mr. and Mrs. Carl Hasbrouck and their baby daughter, Elizabeth Harcourt Hasbrouck.

The Christmas music will be presented in the Presbyterian Church next Sunday afternoon at a vesper service at 4:30 o'clock. Fully 175 persons were served at the portion supper in the Presbyterian Church hall on Friday evening by the November and December committees of the Ladies' Aid and Mrs. Gideon Tompkins and Mrs. C. W. Rathgeb as chairman.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wilsey, Jr., returned to Wassala Sunday after spending a few days at the home of the former's parents. Edison Dimsey was up from Newark, N. J., for the week end with his family.

Dr. John I. Becker, of Greenbush Drive, Poughkeepsie and a former practicing physician in Highland, is in New York where he is to undergo operative treatment to relieve a serious throat condition. He will be at Presbyterian Medical center and hospital, ground made familiar through its appearance on the seals themselves.

Collected Seals
Syracuse (UP)—Ten or 12 years ago, before the average stamp collector even thought about collecting Christmas seals as an adjunct to his regular specimens, Arthur W. Towne, executive secretary of the Onondaga Health Association, started a collection which now demonstrates 25 years of the struggle to educate the public in the care of tuberculosis. Dating from 1907 through 1931 the seals owned by the association are pasted on a white background in the form of the double-barred, medieval Lorain cross made familiar through its appearance on the seals themselves.

OFFICE CAT

A Boy's Letter!

Dear Santa This coming Christmas eve

Will you be kind enough to leave

Besides the toys you have for me

Some duplicates for dad, that he

May tinker with his own and play

As fathers will on Christmas day?

Then I, for once, won't have to wait

For days and days to celebrate!

Evangelist (shouting)—Stand up if you want to go to heaven!

Everybody got up but one old man.

Evangelist—Don't you want to go to Heavland, my boy?

Old Man—Sure, but I ain't going with any excursions.

The only way to be rid of the worry about the things we have not done is to do them.

Man—But, dear, I am late to dinner because I have had my nose to the grindstone all day.

Wife—Well, you had better get a grindstone that doesn't have face powder, rouge and lipstick all over you!

In these days of split-second deliveries the worker who doesn't watch the clock is fired.

Two Irishmen were told to clean out a well. Mike was being lowered by Pat when suddenly he cried out:

Pat (reassuringly)—You're all right!

Mike (exasperated)—Pull me up, Mike, or I'll cut the rope!

Getting the breaks is seldom a matter of blind luck. Behind the breaks are usually years of toil, study, courage, faith. When we deserve the breaks they are most likely to come.

Althea—I broke off my engagement with George because my feelings were no longer the same as when I accepted him.

June—Yes? Then why do you keep his engagement ring?

Althea—Because my feelings towards the ring are unchanged.

There is but one straight road to success, and that is merit.

Capacity for usefulness never lacks opportunity. Not will it long remain undiscovered, because too many other persons are anxious to employ it and to reward it generously.

Sailor—Every time they fire one of these guns $1,000 goes up in smoke.

Ship's Visitor—Why don't they use smokeless powder?

Employer (to applicant for position who has handed in testimonials from two ministers.)—Well, don't work on Sundays. Haven't you a reference from someone who sees you on week days?

If you become too critical with your friends, you will soon find yourself with only a lot of acquaintances on your hands.

The Housewife's Plight

I have a little yardstick that is as good as it can be.

It measures this and measures that, oh, most trustworthy.

But when the day for curtains come, by golly, I'll be switched!

For either I or pesky it—are thoroughly bewitched.

I catch the things, I measure off so much from top to hem.

But never yet were two alike when I had finished them!

Man About Manhattan

By George Tucker

NEW YORK—To those who enjoy fires, floods and other bizarre and eccentric spectacles the opening of the opera season was an interesting first night experience.

But I think it was over-larded with too much gilt to be really important. This is an old cry, I know, but people do not attend opera openings in New York to hear opera.

Lawrence Tibbett is a great name and he is universally admired, probably more so by people who know nothing of opera than by genuine students of opera themselves.

But Tibbett was wasted and squandered on this opening night. They would have benefited themselves and attended had Laurel and Hardy been cast as Iago and Othello (nardon me, it is Otello at the Met).

IT GETS a little too much for the senses when society really preens and perfumes itself for this great annual event. It's sort of like a flower show I love flowers but I do not like to walk into a room where 14 million blossoms are vased under a single roof. The myriad fragrances make too great an assault on the nostrils.

The ladies on opening night are lovely to behold, but they are more interested in the society photographers than the arias.

Maybe I'm wrong, but opera openings seem to me wholly and altogether insincere. It would be all right with a majority of those who attend if the manager suddenly came forward and told them that the performance could not go on as scheduled, but that—in the emergency—he had secured the services of four jugglers and a juggler expert. You see what I mean?

In the theater the play's the thing, but in opera it's just an excuse.

OF COURSE, not many of those who attend the premiere knew anything about opera, but that is opera's fault, not theirs. The whole idea of opera is non-democratic. It is not available to the public because it is too ridiculously expensive. It is hamstringed by traditions that should have been discarded at the turn of the century. To suppose that good opera cannot be produced at a figure less than a king's ransom is, well, stupidity. They will tell you that the audience for opera is too limited to permit its production on the same basis as a Broadway drama. Why is this? Opera has endured for centuries and if in this time it has not created a sufficient demand then there is something wrong with opera—not the public.

AGRICULTURE

Uncle Ab says that life begins at whatever age you happen to be.

Sheep can use to good advantage such home-grown grains as corn, oats, rye, barley, and wheat.

More than 20,000 New York state farmers will take inventory one day during the week of January 2 to 7.

Breeding troubles in dairy cattle are closely associated with Bang's disease. Control this and many of the breeding troubles disappear, say animal husbandry experts.

A concise picture of the New York milkshed, with facts on the supply and use of milk at dairy plants, is given in Cornell bulletin E-396. For a free copy, write to the New York State College of Agriculture at Ithaca, New York.

Registrations Increase
Albany, N. Y., Dec. 14 (AP)—Motor Vehicle Commissioner Carroll E. Mealey said today the first 10 months of 1938 showed an increase of 24,069 in passenger car registrations as compared with the same period last year. Registration of commercial vehicles however dropped from 326,461 to 323,051.

EDEN PAYS "UNOFFICIAL" CALLS IN CAPITAL

Paying a visit to Washington as part of his "informal" American trip, Capt. Anthony Eden, (right) former British foreign secretary, stopped for a chat with Sumner Welles, (left) acting secretary of state. A call at the White House and a jaunt to Mount Vernon were on Eden's busy day's program.

Hollywood

Sighs And Sounds
By Robin Coons

HOLLYWOOD—Zasu Pitts, oh-dear, is with us again! Flutter Butter, oh-dear! No oh-dear. No flutter-flutter. No weaving hands in the hair shelling invisible peas. A reformed character, b'gosh! Zasu went away for a while. She went away for three weeks—and stayed three months. Personal appearance tour, her first, and a box-office bull's eye.

"I don't know why, really," said Zasu, fumbling with her pocket-book with a sort of weaving gesture. "I wasn't good, I know. I had a straight man and he fed me the laughs. The laughs were all mine—that's why it was terrible. I didn't do anything, really. Maybe it was the pictures that played with the act. Maybe they had good stage bands. I don't know."

ZASU had been having offers for tours for years. Two years ago she couldn't have found time. One year ago she still was too busy. This year she had plenty of time. Two years ago she played in 35 pictures. Last year she played in 25. This year she had plenty of time.

Zasu is too diplomatic to say why. She wouldn't dream of insinuating that any of those too many pictures were bad ones, because Zasu, oh-dear, doesn't want to hurt anybody's feelings. But that was the trouble. She was making enough pictures to appear in both sections of a double bill, and sometimes—with the Hal Roach shorts—to be in a very number of a program except the new-reel and the Mickey Mouse.

It was high time she got away. And when she did, what happened? Picture offers again. She's in "Always Leave Them Laughing" at Warner's, goes over to Paramount next.

"And there isn't an Oh-dear in this script," she sighed thankfully. And I'm weaving the hands as little as possible—there's been enough of that, hasn't there? I'm hoping, somehow, to get a part that's half-serious again. I don't mind being laughed at, if only I could work in a little sympathy, a little human stuff, at the same time."

THE voice opened a new career for Zasu and made her eventually Hollywood's highest-priced free-lance actress, but it closed the door on serious roles.

Once, in a talkie, she tried a serious part. It was seriously acted, and a beautiful job. But it never reached the public. The first preview audience roared as soon as she flashed on the screen, even before she had a chance to open her mouth. They shot the scenes again, with another actress—and used Zasu exclusively for laughs thereafter.

Someone has said "a good liar requires a good memory" but there is no such a thing as a "good liar."

WOODSTOCK

Woodstock, Dec. 14.—The board of trustees of the Woodstock Library met on Thursday to vote for a new heating system in the building. It was decided to install oil circulating heaters in the main room and one of the small side rooms. The original plan for an oil furnace in the cellar has been abandoned indefinitely due to the poor condition of the cellar, the repair of which would involve great expense.

The book committee meeting of the Woodstock Library was held on Monday afternoon. The committee discussed new books, and recommended a number for the library.

The Home Bureau meeting on care of the hands will be given on Thursday at 1:45 in the home of Mrs. George Bassow, leader of the good grooming course. Members and guests have been asked to bring their own manicuring equipment.

The Rev. Milton L. Yates, of the department of theology at Bard College, was the speaker at a union Bible service given on Sunday evening by the Woodstock Dutch Reformed, Methodist and Lutheran Churches. The service, which was held in the Methodist Church, was in observation of Universal Bible Sunday. The Rev. Mr. Yates spoke on the development of the English Bible from the earliest English copies until the present day.

Woodstockers and their neighbors were afforded a rare treat on Saturday and Sunday when more than 120 Bibles were exhibited in the Woodstock Methodist Church Hall. Nearly 200 people visited the exhibition during its open hours. Some of the oldest Bibles dated back as far as the 15th century. Most interesting to people of the vicinity were the old Dutch, German and English Bibles containing the records of local families, dating from days of the early settlers in the county.

One of the oldest Bibles, an English Bible called the Breeches Bible attracted special interest. A special exhibit by the American Bible Society of New York was included in the show and represented Bibles of more than 30 nationalities, Oriental, African and Pacific Island included. The high attendance in the few hours the exhibition was on view are evidence of the exceptional interest in the subject.

Also included in the display were samplers from local families and two stove plates loaned by Miss Alice Henderson, one of which represented the story of David and Goliath.

Hartford, 118 Center street, both of Ellenville, are among the 538 candidates who have passed the competitive examinations conducted for the position of senior drug clerk in the service of the state department of social welfare.

The position pays an annual salary of from $1,600 to $2,100. Mr. McGrath ranks 288 on the list with a rating of 82.

Mill City's Face Is Very Red ... Crown Says 'Slashings' Are Fakes

Halifax, England, Dec. 14 (AP).—This Yorkshire mill city today suffered a sheepish reaction to its "slasher" scare of last month when the crown prosecutor declared in court at least five of the 13 reported attacks were fakes.

Two girls were bound over for trial on charges of causing malicious mischief by slashing themselves.

One said she did it with a penny razor blade because she was angry at her boy friend. The other admitted she had used a comb to inflict a cut because she was "excited" by reports of the "phantom slasher."

Declaring that "now we know that at least five of the 13 attacks never happened at all," Prosecutor W. A. Curtis spoke bitingly of "persons with silly notions."

He recalled the state of alarm that gripped Hastings through the last week in November, when thousands of persons were afraid to go outdoors after dark, hundreds of men banded themselves together, armed with clubs, and mill girls marched to work under heavy escort in fear of the "slasher."

The attacks in Halifax ended after Scotland Yard agents arrived November 30, and began work on the theory that the "slasher" actually was largely the produce of imagination. However, reports of similar attacks continued to come from other sections.

More Donations To Refugee Drive

The Emergency Refugee Drive Committee has reported additional contributions to the fund which is being raised for the refugees from Germany. The drive was opened by Mayor Conrad J. Helsenman on Tuesday, December 6, at a large mass meeting in the auditorium of the Myron J. Michael School. Dr. Joachim Prinz, a leading Rabbi of Berlin, made a heart-stirring appeal for help for the oppressed minorities in Germany. The committee reports the response thus far has shown that the citizens of Kingston appreciate their responsibilities as civilized human beings to relieve the sufferings of these distressed people.

The Freeman has offered its offices as a medium through which contributions may be sent. Address the Emergency Refugee Drive, care of The Kingston Daily Freeman.

Blast Hurls Rock Through House
1,537 loads picked up and the cases were stored at the Sterling street dump, where they will be used next spring as leaf mold in the various parks.

Abies and Rubbish
The report showed that during the past year it had cost $21,194.9 for ash and rubbish removal in the city.

Garbage, which is under the jurisdiction of the board of health, cost the city $9,610 for the year.

Cost of Incinerator
During the year 9,580 truck loads of materials were disposed of as the city incinerator on Wilbur avenue. The total cost of operating the incinerator was $9,554.06.

Hurricane Costs
To date the hurricane of September 21, has cost the city $6,648.68, and created considerable extra and unforeseen work and expense. A total of 379 trees were removed from the streets.

Lights and Streets
During the past year the city has expended the sum of $145,208.88 on rebuilding and repairing streets and on lighting the streets at night.

The street lighting system has been further improved the past year. The concession to the city under section 2-6-1 of the street lighting contract was taken advantage of in the downtown section, resulting in a vastly improved lighting condition.

Mayor Helsenman has consistently recommended better lighting and this is a major step in that direction. During 1938 the lighting improvements effected most particularly on Broadway where 170 new ornamental poles were erected, increasing the candlepower by 65,000. Total candlepower of the new Broadway lighting is now 212,000. The merchants and property owners were very cooperative in this change, which greatly expedited the work. The annual increase in cost of current is $2,215.

On McEntee and Wurts streets the lighting system was changed from 23 lamps of 600 candlepower to 23 of 1,000 candlepower increasing the candlepower 8,200. The annual increase in cost of current is $555.

Throughout the residential streets several new installations were made where necessary for the protection of the citizens of the city. The total increase in candlepower during 1938 was 74,200.

Traffic Light Cost
To operate the traffic lights in the city during 1938 cost $12,211.38. During the year a traffic light was installed on Broadway at the intersections of Henry and O'Neil streets.

Snow Removal Cost
During the past year the city has spent $10,183.70 on snow removal. All snow removal equipment is in readiness for the next storm. When weather conditions warrant two night crews are kept busy sanding icy conditions in addition to the regular day patrol.

During 1938 the snowfall amounted to about 21 inches. It was necessary to use the snow loaders for four storms this year.

Highway Buildings
Service to the public has been materially improved due to the completion and occupancy of the new Hasbrouck avenue garage. Under the direction of a shop foreman two skilled mechanics kept all of the machinery in repair.

To maintain the highway buildings and machinery has cost $15,494.68 during the past year.

Parks and Playgrounds
The sum of $22,296.16 was expended on the city parks and playgrounds during 1938, which included the cost of labor, purchase of equipment, etc.

Considerable development work was done in Lawton Park which was opened this past summer. Hutton Park was also opened with new playground equipment and rest rooms. A competent foreman of park work was employed and a large amount of shrubbery planted in Forsyth, Block, Hasbrouck and Lawton Parks.

The 1,500 seedling maple trees which were planted in the nursery on City Home property and in Hasbrouck Park, were cared for during the year. The zoo in Forsyth Park was maintained and has several additional small animals which are interesting, particularly to children.

A baseball diamond was maintained at Athletic Field. The recreation division of the park development has been accomplishing immeasurable benefits to the community by providing for our boys and girls educational instructions and physical training under trained leadership and with proper facilities.

The sum of $19,341.16 was spent for recreation director and supervisors, park police and park labor and foreman.

After disposing of routine matters the board went into executive session to consider its budget for 1939.

Wants Discipline
Moscow, Dec. 14 (AP)—A demand for more "Bolshevik discipline" in the theatres and operas of the Soviet Union was voiced today by the newspaper Soviet Art. It charged that the theatre managements were too lenient, actors sometimes came to work drunk or disorganized, performances by tardiness and that the biggest nuisance was the "floaters" from the theatre to theatre wherever they can get the most money.

Servants Ordered Home
Amsterdam, Dec. 14 (AP)—Netherlands housewives faced an intensified servant problem today as approximately 25,000 German maid-servants were ordered by a German decree to return to Germany as soon as possible because of a labor shortage in Germany.

of possessing a gun with the numbers filed off.

Miss Etting's testimony yesterday was confined to cross-examination. She admitted that last Christmas Snyder presented her with an $1,800 platinum and diamond bracelet, inscribed to "Mum" and last Easter sent her "mother and father bunny rabbits."

In testimony paralleling that of Miss Etting, Snyder's daughter told of events leading up to the shooting.

"When Mr. Alderman started to say something, my father shot twice," she said.

Alderman was served outside the court with summons to appear December 22 to show cause why he should not support his infant child and to attend a deposition hearing December 24 on Mrs. Alderman's pending $150,000 love-theft suit against Miss Etting.

which the church is located. Mr. Weyant testified that the ultimate title to all church property in the conference was in the conference itself and not in the local body.

Senator Charles W. Walton of Kingston appeared for John Richard, Chapman, Yale and Frank Cross, present trustees of the church. Clarence A. Moorhead of Ellenville appeared for Mrs. Connie Smith, who was also present at the hearing.

The city of New York was represented by Henry R. Bright, assistant corporation counsel, who maintained that because of the clause in the deed permitting the removal of the buildings they were personal property. He cited cases to support his contention.

Senator Walton produced County Clerk James A. Simpson, Contractor Lyman T. Schoonmaker and Alfred Markle of Rochester, as appraisal witnesses. Mr. Simpson placed a value of about $3,000 on the land and buildings. Mr. Schoonmaker testified that the reproduction cost of the buildings, allowing for depreciation, was about $7,500 and Mr. Markle allowed $8,000 for land and buildings.

For the city Allen D. Potter and Clarence T. Voss appraised the land at $150.

ing in cooperation with both the bank and the state department, is continuing its studies of other means of bridging trade barriers in the western hemisphere.

One possibility may be the sale or loan of gold to Latin American countries to enable them to lift exchange restrictions. Business men in some Latin American countries sometimes find it difficult, particularly in Argentina, to change their native currencies for the dollars necessary to buy goods in this country.

The treasury is surfeited with $14,370,000,000 (or 60 per cent) of the world's gold and long has been on the lookout for means of selling some of it, particularly if the result would be freer trade.

(To permit free exchange of its own and foreign currencies, a nation must pay gold for any excess of payments to foreigners over for payments to natives in commercial and financial transactions.)

Suggestions under consideration for making direct treasury loans to Latin America evoked both praise and criticism from members of congress.

A survey indicates that seven South Carolinians left that state for every outsider who moved in during the decade from 1920 to 1930.

Grows Nut Trees

Mexico (AP)—Propagation of nut trees and the development of new varieties has been the 25-year hobby of Dr. Herbert W. Whitney, local dentist. Dr. Whitney experiments with walnut sprouts in small wooden tubs and then transplants them to his extensive arbor, where they grow into trees and bear more nuts for use in further experiments. One of the dentist's prize achievements was the crossing of walnut and chestnut sprouts. The result was a nut which looks like a chestnut, but with a walnut inside its shell. Another time he fertilized a butternut and a chestnut. Result: A much larger butternut.

Gets Honorary Title
 Geneva (A)—Dr. Ulysses P. Hedrick, past director of the New York state agricultural experiment station here, has been named director emeritus by the board of trustees of Cornell University. The action established the title for the first time in the station's history and paid tribute to the work Dr. Hedrick accomplished before he resigned several months ago. He was succeeded as director by Prof. P. J. Farrow.

TIME TESTED . . .
 Some Automobile Liability Insurance claims, especially those involving minors, are often not brought until long after a policy term expires. It is important, therefore, to have protection in a company that you know will "be there" whether a claim is brought this year or years hence.

Dauch Case Goes to Jury

The $15,000 negligence action brought by Mrs. Barbara Dauch of New Paltz against Elizabeth Van Noodall of Walden to recover damages for a fractured pelvis which plaintiff suffered on July 30, 1936, when she fell on the cellar steps of a house she rented from the defendant, was submitted to the jury today. Plaintiff claims a defect in the construction of the platform at the bottom of the cellar steps.

Plaintiff is 77 years old and testified she had gone to the cellar with her arms full of articles to be placed on a swing shelf. As she started back up the steps after disposing of the articles she claims the platform was defective in that it tipped with her and caused her to fall. She charges that the platform did not rest securely against the steps but was so situated on a sewer pipe that it tipped with her, throwing her to the ground.

Fire Chief Takes Charge of Plant

Indication of fire before it broke out.

Continues Investigation

Fire Chief Murphy said today that he was continuing his investigation, and that Special Officer Goodgion had been placed on duty at the plant until the investigation was completed. So far the origin of the fire was unknown.

The fire chief said that in order to cause the steel drum to explode it would have had to be subjected to considerable heat. The fire spread rapidly, and the interior of the plant was damaged as well as the roof.

The plant was occupied for some years by the Schilling Furniture Company, and was closed for some time before it was taken over by Fischer Brothers who continued to operate it until bankruptcy proceedings were started.

Financial and Commercial

Industrial Stocks Advanced Tuesday

Stocks closed up yesterday and above the high marks of the day, as volume was increased to 1,090,900 shares as against 900,000 Monday. Industrial stocks, as figured in the Dow-Jones averages, were ahead 0.94 point, to 149.59; rails gained 0.41 point, to 29.86; utilities advanced 0.22 point, to 21.60. London and Amsterdam markets were better. Paris market showed improvement, Berlin was easier.

Cotton closed with losses of from six to 24 points, with December cotton off more than $1 a bale. Influenced by weakness abroad wheat at Chicago was down 3/4 of a cent a bushel. Rubber and silk futures advanced, while sugar was down 1/2 cent. Cocoa was off seven to ten points, wool futures were higher.

It is expected that the railroad program committee named by the President will report before the end of this month. Belief is that there will be recommendation of some form of federal financial aid, revision of the rate-making structure and some plan to place all transportation on an equal footing with regard to regulation and subsidy. Meanwhile President Roosevelt's New York Central finds the trend of railroad traffic encouraging; says that industrial concerns in his territory are optimistic regarding business and that there is no evidence of a slowing down of business other than seasonal.

The C. & O., and Pere Marquette Railroads are placing orders for a total of 28,250 tons of steel rails. Business goes to Carnegie Illinois, Inland and Bethlehem Steel companies. C. & O. has placed an order for 6,000 tons of fabricated steel car parts for repairing freight cars. Phelps Dodge Copper Products Corp. has orders for more than 3,000,000 pounds of copper cable for the Bonneville dam project, to be delivered in Oregon and Washington by March. The order covers an aggregate of 693 miles of 110,000 volt hollow copper cable.

The statistical position of the oil industry next spring is expected to be better than it was this year as curtailment in production is resulting in contra-seasonal reductions in inventories. It is believed that the two-day shut-down of wells in Texas will be continued during January. Meanwhile Bureau of Internal Revenue is considering changes in oil tax laws which would require that costs of intangible drilling and development be charged to capital and amortized over a period of years.

The President yesterday authorized the Federal Housing Administration to increase its mortgage limit to $2,000,000,000, the maximum under the Federal Housing Act and $1,000,000,000 above the previous limitation. Congress may be asked to extend the maximum insurance limit to $5,000,000,000 or remove any fixed limitation.

A step in administration program to improve Latin-American trade was the loan yesterday by Export-Import Bank of $10,000,000 in International Telephone and Telegraph Co. The company also obtained a loan of $5,000,000 from a group of New York banks. How Sound Co. yesterday voted regular quarterly of 75 cents and an extra of 50 cents. Detroit Edison Co. declared a final dividend of $2 a share. Hazelton Co. voted a special of $1. Bulova Watch declared a quarterly dividend of 50 cents on common. Technicolor announced a payment of 15 cents. Western Electric declared 25 cents on common; last payment on common was 25 cents in March this year.

Parent-Teacher Association

Woodstock

Woodstock, Dec. 14.—At the Parent-Teacher Association meeting held on Saturday in the home of Mrs. Clark Neher it was voted to conduct and sponsor a community Christmas tree this year with carol singing by Woodstock school children of all ages and all districts. This was a change in the organization's original plans to conduct a tour of children singing carols throughout the town. As many of the children were too young to enjoy this it has been decided to have the singing around the tree which is lighted in the village green each year. Although primarily intended for the pleasure of the children the singing will be participated in and enjoyed by adults also, including parents, teachers and trustees of the entire town.

Members present at the meeting were entertained before the opening of the business program by a "radio" station entertainment by the Woodstock Ski-Billies over "Station WSC." Hawaiian guitar playing by Judith Cohn, Edith Hasbrouck and Ruth Hasbrouck was accompanied by vocal music by Dick Bunney, Arthur Wells, Janet Lapo, Nancy Cooper, Rosabelle Jollin. The "radio" announcer was Dobby Brinkman. The youngsters enjoyed themselves to such an extent that they have decided to continue as Ski-Billies, and to play together as often as possible.

Orphans 'Parceled Out'

New York, Dec. 14 (AP)—Seven little orphans from Roseburg, Ore., whose parents were killed in the 1918 influenza epidemic, began a new life here today. The six girls and one boy, from 2 to 14 years old, are the children of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Moore. After the death of their parents, citizens of Roseburg took up a collection to help pay for seven cross-country railroad tickets so the children might find new homes. The orphans were "parceled out" to aunts and uncles in The Bronx.

Divorce Court Ahead For Gable's Marriage

Hollywood, Dec. 14 (AP)—Clark Gable's strained marriage to a woman 11 years his senior today appeared likely to reach a divorce court where he would be freed to wed Carole Lombard, his "best girl."

The husky film idol, himself, announced that his estranged wife, Maria (Ria) Langham Gable, whom he married in 1931 and from whom he separated in November, 1935, was at last ready to seek a divorce after a ruling on the legality of their property settlement by which she received $225,000.

The settlement was to be presented to Superior Judge Ruben Schmidt today. Gable's and Miss Lombard's nuptial plans, if any, were not disclosed. It would be the third marriage for the box office king of the movies, the second for the blonde comedienne.

Chrysanthemum National

Flower of Ancient Japan

Plants that have survived for a thousand years, as has the chrysanthemum, gather legends through the centuries. Actually, we now know that our beautiful florist and garden mums have evolved from small daisies of white and yellow, long ago found growing wild in various parts of Asia and the East, writes Ruth Mosher Place in the Detroit News. The tale-makers have other ideas. Ancient Chinese chronicles relate that the flower was formed from a Persian carnation by a maiden who plucked apart its petals with a gold hairpin, separating the tight furled head into many curling feathers. Other traditions refer to the supposed power of the chrysanthemum, insuring long life and health to its devotees.

Around the chrysanthemum the Japanese, who brought this plant originally from China, have woven plays and ceremonies. In their art of flower arrangement, the blooms are used in symbolic designs. As the national flower of old Japan, conventional forms of the long petalled types appear in official ceremonies and decoration.

Its introduction into Europe came much later. Though records of the chrysanthemum in Holland date back to 1790, it was not popularly acclaimed until the Englishman, Robert Fortune, brought back specimens of the glorious court chrysanthemums of Japan in 1860. American chrysanthemum history may be said to have begun 60 years ago when Elmer D. Smith of Adrian began importing chrysanthemums from the Orient. Now our American hybrids go back to Japan and China.

Illinois College Claims

Oldest Bell in Country

What is believed to be the oldest bell in the United States calls students to class at McKendree college, writes a Lebanon, Ill., United Press correspondent in the Detroit Free Press.

The bell, hanging in the college's old chapel tower, was found in the ruins of a 16th-century church in New Mexico by a band of Santa Fe traders and brought to St. Louis in the 1850s.

According to dates and names molded on the bell it was cast in Spain in the eighteenth century and recast in the fourteenth. Brought to Florida in the sixteenth century it was removed once again to New Mexico.

It is not definitely known what caused the destruction of the mission in whose ruins it was found, but it is believed to have suffered the fate of most Spanish outposts in the general uprisings of the Apaches about 1580.

In the fall of 1855, it was placed on display at the Illinois state fair at Centennial. When the fair closed it was bought for the newly built McKendree college and placed in the chapel tower.

Franklin a 'First-Nighter'

Sage Benjamin Franklin settled back in his seat to enjoy one of the first theater plays in this country. About him were gathered a "numerous" audience in holiday spirit, for they were defying the staid authorities in attending a "bootleg" play. It was called "The Fair Penitent." But a Philadelphia law imposed a fine of 20 shillings on any one who "frequented" a stage play, writes Harrison W. Fry in the Philadelphia Bulletin. Franklin, first in many things, was a first-nighter at the theater. The curtain was about to go up in the improvised theater in the Plumstead warehouse on Water street between Pine and Lombard, in the old Society Hill section, when some one discovered one of the theater opponents in the pit, as the cheaper seats were then called. "Throw him out!" shouted an ancestor of one of Philadelphia's first families. "He's a spy!" And the alleged spy landed in the mud of Water street.

Dewey Denies Having Indictments For Six
New York, Dec. 14 (AP)—Back from a three-week vacation in Bermuda and Nassau, District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey today denied reports he had obtained indictments against six major politicians.
Dewey said, however, he would move at once for trial dates for several important cases. Among those mentioned was the case of Assemblyman Edward S. Moran of Brooklyn, who is accused of accepting bribes from taxicab companies to influence legislation in their favor at Albany.
It was indicated also that Dewey would personally prosecute Tammany District Leader James J. Hines, whose second trial on charges he sold political protection to the "Dutch" Schultz mob is scheduled for January 9.

Jobs Ahead for College 'Grads'
Prospects for Employment Of This Year's Crop Are Encouraging.

MINNEAPOLIS.—Employment demand for this year's college graduates has considerably exceeded spring estimates, and 53 out of 84 principal universities and colleges report placement of 75 per cent or more of their June seniors; 37 of the schools report placement of 90 to 100 per cent of all those seeking employment, according to a survey just completed by Northwestern National Life Insurance company.
Improvement in general business which became evident last June has reflected itself in more jobs for graduates, a majority of the school placement departments report, and has forced an upward revision of estimates made prior to commencement when placement officials found demand much below that experienced in the spring of 1937.
The principal fields of employment in which demand for graduates is increasing are among the various governmental agencies, both federal and local, and in sales work, accounting and aviation, while the autumn demand from retailers and wholesalers is also making itself felt.

Wanted in Aviation.
The European war scare caused a complete cessation of employment calls for a time, at some schools, whereas at some of the western schools it reflected itself in a heightened employment demand from aviation companies.
Of 56 schools with comparative reports which could be checked against their own spring estimates, 41 have exceeded their April estimates, eight have equalled their predictions and seven have fallen short. Of these last, however, four predicted 100 per cent placement of all available graduates, and have actually placed 90 to 98 per cent so far, the survey shows.

Months following an exceptionally slow spring, says a typical report from Columbia university, "Approximately 90 per cent of all June graduates are now placed. No one field of employment predominates, unless perhaps sales work."
From the South, the school of business administration at the University of Alabama reports: "No members of June graduating class unemployed at present. Employment calls picked up during late summer and increased activity seems to have been maintained. Increases in employment activity most marked in governmental agencies, banking and retail trade."

Business Opportunities.
From the Middle West, the University of Chicago school of business reports: "Approximately 90 per cent of those seeking employment have been placed. Have observed no noteworthy pickup in employment activity as yet. Good sales and research people can be placed fairly readily."

And from the Pacific coast, Stanford university's school of engineering reports: "All June engineering graduates placed, although a relatively large number of engineers are engaged in federal public works programs, on which the permanency of jobs is naturally uncertain."
Placement percentages given are based on the number of graduates actually seeking employment. A portion of each senior class return to school for graduate study, and another segment, particularly of the women students, return to social life or marry, and do not seek jobs. There are usually a few individuals in every graduating class who cannot be placed regardless of economic conditions, and there are always some employment calls which cannot be filled, in good times and bad, due to their specialized nature, according to placement directors who co-operated in the survey.

'Pork Barrel' Bills
The first bill for harbor improvements was passed by congress March 3, 1823. Enemies of the bill alleged that its advocates voted for it purely for political reasons—to make themselves popular among their constituents by getting something for their districts. This so-called "rush" upon the federal treasury was compared to the rush made by the slaves on the southern plantations when the pork barrel was opened. River and harbor improvement bills were ever after facetiously called "pork barrel bills." Later the term was extended to any legislation supposedly passed for purposes of political patronage. The total contributions to a campaign fund are sometimes called "the pork barrel."

Broomfield Contends Culture Is Shifting
New York, Dec. 14 (AP)—Louis Bromfield, the novelist, believes that the center of world culture is shifting from Europe to America.
The Pulitzer prize-winning author, who returned to the United States three weeks ago after 15 years as a voluntary expatriate, told a book and author luncheon yesterday: "You cannot appreciate the menace of Hitler and Mussolini. You cannot believe the atrocity stories you hear and read. But they are all true. Nothing is impossible in the dictatorships."
"The center of world culture is moving to America. If it is not already here, I'm convinced culture cannot live in Europe."

St. Mary's Group Elects Officers

St. Mary's Benevolent Society held its annual election Sunday in their hall at Kingston Point. At least 75 members were present and an interesting election was had after which beer and soft drinks were served for those present.
The society has experienced a very successful year for 1938 and a campaign is under way to encourage the younger element to take part in the organization so that the society may still grow larger and more prosperous in the future. The benefits offered the members are abundant and should be an incentive to those men, both old and young, who are eligible, to become a member and enjoy the benefits available.
The following men were elected for the term of one year beginning January 1:
President, Joseph Naccarato; vice president, John F. Sottile; financial secretary, Dominick Yanto; corresponding secretary, Frank Turck; council committee, Frank Catanzaro, Michael DeCicco, Frank Florio, Luigi Fergullo, John Crispino; treasurer, Philip Sottile; trustees, Joseph Esposito, John J. Problem Solved
Scranton, Pa., Dec. 14 (AP)—Five pinhole players found a neat solution to that old problem of how to spend the night out and still keep peace in the family. They formed a "corporation," kept records of each game's "pot" and declared semi-annual dividends—payable to their wives, who received a Christmas payment of $45.

WE BLEW A FRONT TIRE AND TUBE AT 60!
But, in a public test, the new Hudson 112 stayed straight on its course—safely (without using special tires, tubes or equipment)!

WE DISCONNECTED HYDRAULICS AT 40!
In the same public test, hydraulic brakes were suddenly disconnected, but the driver just pushed the same foot pedal and the new Hudson 112 STOPPED—safely!

Why? Thanks to AUTO-POISE CONTROL—a revolutionary mechanical safety invention that keeps wheels on their true course automatically—on rough roads, in heavy side winds, even when a tire blows. NO OTHER CAR HAS ANYTHING LIKE IT. Auto-Poise is standard, at no extra cost, on the new Hudson 112—one of America's lowest priced cars.

Blacksmith at 89 Carries On

Spends 80 Years Over Anvil and Still Is Active At His Trade.

OLMSTED FALLS, OHIO.—August von Brause, stalwart, 89-year-old blacksmith who has spent 80 years over the anvil, is one of the leading citizens of this northern Ohio community because he speaks six languages fluently and fashions horseshoes that the best thoroughbred wear.

Eighty years ago, in a drowsy old German hamlet, nine-year-old August poked his nose into a blacksmith shop, picked up a hammer and started the village smith as he struck the anvil.

"I want to be a blacksmith," he shouted.

And that's how he became a blacksmith. Today he is Ohio's oldest blacksmith, working every day in his little white shop and house here that he built with his own rugged hands 37 years ago.

Everyone in the countryside knows the big-muscled, gray-haired man of the forge and anvil, whose horseshoes are shipped to all parts of America to be tacked to the speeding hoofs of thoroughbreds.

Roamed Over Europe.

But the slightly stooped blacksmith also is noted among his neighbors for his linguistic feats which he learned as a youth when he wandered over Europe, learning to speak the language of each country he visited—England, Germany, France, Russia, Poland and Slovakia.

He was born in a tiny German village. At 15, after swinging a smith's hammer for six years, he had learned to shoe oxen.

During his wanderings, he stayed in Russia until a dispute arose over his papers.

"I didn't have any," he said, "because I had just walked into the country."

He started back, landing finally in France. With the outbreak of the Franco-Prussian war in 1871, von Brause enlisted in the German army and served one year.

Nine years later he set out for America. He left his wife and children in Germany and came to Cleveland. He worked there several years, finally taking out citizenship papers and sending for his family.

Does Good Business.

In 1901 he moved to Olmsted Falls, built his shop and home and has been doing a good business. He owns thousands of iron tools—hammers, tongs and all sorts of gadgets—which he made himself.

He used to make heavy shoes for farm horses, but since the modern tractor has pushed the horse into pasture, he now devotes most of his time to fashioning fine, light shoes for racing horses.

Von Brause lives alone in his little white house, with only his dog for company. Three children in Cleveland and one in Louisville, Ky., visit him frequently.

"I eat anything," he said, "and after I've worked hard all day, I turn in and read anything—but I'll have to admit that I need my glasses to read."

As for present-day Germany, von Brause said:

"The old Germany is gone. Things have changed and it isn't the same." But his anvil, forge and his flourishing trade—"Well, that's just the same as it always was to me," he said.

Major Clubs Talk On Baseball Plans

New York, Dec. 14 (AP)—The big league baseballers still are meeting but nothing much has happened yet, except that the boys from the National League have gone on record as not exactly opposing the yellow ball.

Yesterday the American Leaguers were arguing about the radio. Will Harridge said club owners finally were agreed that any club that wished to make arrangements for the radio broadcasting of its games might do so.

The National League follows the same sort of scheme, leaving the question of broadcasting to its individual members. Brooklyn has announced it will radio its games next season. The question of night baseball also is troubling the American Leaguers.

A rule governing night baseball is being prepared and will be presented to the owners at today's meeting. Like the rule in the National it probably will limit each team to seven night games.

The American League has practically committed itself to a "dead" ball something like the one used by the National League last year. The National Leaguers have voted to carry 25 men on each team's payroll. The American Leaguers cling to their limit of 23 men per team, but they may have two men on the "disability list," which amounts to the same thing.

Trades Loom

There still are many trades in the air. The Yankees, alone, are not in the marts. Having won the World Series three times running, they expect to win it again as they stand.

As expected, both leagues voted down the suggestion of Colonel Jake Ruppert, owner of the Yankees, that ball players be paid their salaries from the beginning of spring training, in order to discourage holdouts.

Sulphur Beds in Louisiana

One of the most essential chemicals in industry is sulphur, and in grandfather's day it came almost entirely from Sicily. The Sicilians knew they had a good thing, and made the most of it. And all that time, relates a writer in the Philadelphia Record, there were immense beds of sulphur in Louisiana.

But there was a catch. The beds were beneath 500 feet of quicksand and rock. Ordinary mining methods were useless. Then along came a man named Herman Frasch, and he developed a new process, simple, but something that had never occurred to anyone before. Three concentric pipes were sunk, one to melt the sulphur, another blowing compressed air to force the melted stuff out, and a third to carry it to the surface, where it was pumped into bins to cool and harden.

Gravel Pits in Indiana

Yield Mastodons' Bones

TERRE HAUTE, Ind.—Gravel pits here are becoming a valuable source of important geological information, according to Dr. Robert Karpinski, Indiana State Teachers college geologist.

He is directing excavation work in the city gravel pit where workers uncovered a hip joint of a prehistoric elephant. Dr. Karpinski said the elephant may have been a mastodon, hairy mammoth or a Columbian elephant which trod southern Indiana 20,000 to 50,000 years ago. He expects to make positive identification when more bones are uncovered.

Pastor Weds 2,999

QUINCY, ILL.—Dr. J. J. Tisdall, pastor of the First Christian church here, has performed 2,999 marriage ceremonies in the last 44 years.

The White Eagles hung up a 10-point victory Tuesday night, defeating the Cairo Big Five at their Delaware avenue court, 44-34, as Frank Tatarzewski and L. Buboltz romped over boards to tally 16 and 15 points respectively.

As indicated by the half-time score, 19-12, in favor of the Eagles, Frank Wojciechowski's Polish cagers took the lead at the outset and held on for the full contest.

The two outstanding point makers for the Cairo quintet were Holder and Phoenix with 12 each.

In the preliminary the Blackbirds outscored the Elks, 25-18. L. Guest tallying 10 points for the best individual score on the winners' side of the ledger, and Sapp for the Elks.

Thread Count in Percal

A good quality percale is made from combed yarns and has a uniform weave. It is also free from imperfections and has a thread count of not less than 100 threads to the linear inch—200 threads to the square inch. By the term "threads to the linear inch" is meant the number of yarns present in an inch in one direction. By the number of threads to the square inch is meant the total number of yarns in both directions.

Snow Sports Open At Placid Saturday

Lake Placid, N. Y., Dec. 14 (AP)—Almost on the eve of the official opening Saturday of Lake Placid's famed winter sports season, a new six to nine inch snowfall has turned local winter sports fans into a group of optimists. The temperature was well below freezing.

The season is highlighted this year, as in other seasons, by the annual Christmas "College Week," the North American bobsled championships and several outstanding speed and figure skating events.

In addition, an added attraction this year is the tryouts for the American Olympic bobsled teams to be sent abroad in 1940. The trials will be held on February 10, 11, 12 and 13.

Joneses 3004, Tiano 693—City Leaguers Hold Fast

The first 3,000 bowling score in league competition this year was posted by the Jones Dairymen last night. Their new high three was 3,004. This combine came through with a new top single, also, 1094. Some bowling, eh! Kieffer was high single man with 230. Lou Hynes' 215 was top average. It was his club that played the Joneses, dropping two matches in the Gold Division of the Silver Palace loop. And, three cheers for Charley Tiano. He spilled the maple for a 690 triple, highest on record for the season in Kingston. Rolling with the Crystal Beautys against Jack's Garage he posted games of 222, 213 and 239. Those new Central Recreation alleys on Railroad avenue, open Saturday afternoon.

The formal program inaugurating the winter schedule of the runways gets under way at 8 p. m. If you want to meet all of the bowling dignitaries of the Hudson valley, drop around.

Those leading scorers in the City Basketball League hold fast. Johnny Gilday has 43 now, after last night's bombardment. Normie Niles 33 and Schneider 49 in the American Division. Friday it will be Kingston High at Newburgh in the second DUSO battle for the Maroon and White.

Coach G. Warren Kias's cagers are set on making it win No. 2. Another Joe Palermo is blossoming out at Mickey's barber shop. Johnny Roschettino, one of the Three Musketeers (Frankie and Mickey are the others) is all set to join the Fabst Blue Ribbons. He blasted the maples in his last time out for 122 and 106. Well, that's pretty good for Bosch, isn't it!

You can start in from here Connie, it's your turn to do the kidding. "Wild Bill" Anderson is setting the pace in the Hercules Bowling League. The Powdermakers circuit is the lightest in years with the Exploders' recent surge all the rage. Marv Page and crew have clicked those pins off to come up from fifth place. Last night was a gala date for the Morgan Social Club.

The boys enjoyed a pig roast. At the business session Marty Carr was elected president. Lotsa luck for a good year Marv.

Looks like Charley Bock will have to lay off basketball for a while. Hurt his knee Saturday at Hurlerville. Hank Krum is nursing a bruise or two. That must have been a hot and heavy battle. The Knights copped two dardball thrillers in that interfraternal set up. That homer by Murphy in the 7th came in just nice. Seems like somebody in the city administration has a grudge against the fight fans. Although from 600 to 1,000 of them flock to the auditorium every week, a notice was sent out today to the effect that the hall would be in use for other athletic purposes for at least five Fridays, one in January, two in February and one in March. There's another Friday set aside for a charity ball, which of course, deserves performance and patronage too.

Stone Ridge will lineup with Fisher, Doyle, Decker, Davis, Neff and Vivian.

Spas Once Enjoyed by Romans

So-called healing waters were used by the Romans in England long before fashion set its stamp of approval on spas. Bath, with its hot springs, the Romans developed into an important center, embellishing it with fine edifices, mosaic pavements and a pillared bathing pool. Later, other English cities singled out their hot, salt or healing springs. Buxton, too, said to be the highest town (1,000 feet above sea level) in England, was known in Roman days for its bluish waters.

Knights Edge Out Baltz Team In City League Contest 25-23, Merchants, Barmanns Victors

BOWLING

Last night was a big one for the Knights of Columbus team in the City Basketball League. The Caseys put on a hard drive against the Baltz Pajama Boys to spoil their clean slate in the loop, winning, 25-23.

In the other contests, the Uptown Merchants trimmed the Boston Cleaners, 34-21, and the Barmann basketballers snowed under the Hercules, 35-6.

That red hot Casey crew led the Baltz brigade with two 15 four points all the way, standing in front at the intermission, 12-10. Joyce and Gilday sunk the three long deuces that decided the issue. Bruce was on top of the scoring list for the Baltz Ave.

N.Y.A. Statement Ament Household Employment Here

The National Youth Administration is now engaged in a drive to acquaint housewives of Ulster county with more of the pertinent facts regarding household employment so that in the near future a training school may be opened up in this community for young girls that they may become proficient in this type of work.

In connection with this work, the N. Y. A. has issued the following statement: In the field of household employment the demand for trained employees is greater than the supply.

In spite of the decrease in the size of families, the building of smaller homes and the improvements in small equipment, there are a great many housewives who desire paid labor in their homes. Household employees are desired by women who are trying to combine outside employment with housework, by women who want to relieve the physical strain due to ill health, or who desire more leisure time. Yet this is one field in which the demand for trained workers exceeds the supply.

Social Stigma Falsely Attached There are several explanations for this lack of supply, but the one most commonly attributed to it is the social stigma attached to such work. In the results of an extensive survey made by the "Fortune" magazine and published in their March 1935 issue, it is found that this stigma originated in the early days of the American republic for American born whites, and has continued to exist even though general working conditions have been improved. Consequently the general level of intelligence has been lowered and women showing capabilities and preference along line of housework seek other jobs rather than accept work which they imagine lowers their social status.

Education Needed A change in attitude toward household employment is essential for the improvement of this situation. If a household employee is a trained worker and treated as such, her work judged as to quality and rewarded accordingly, the social stigma will be removed at the same time as the work of training household employees is going on. The housewife should analyze the housekeeping job, see its possibility of scientific management and come to welcome household employees as on the same plane as other wage earners.

Training for household employment is available in many communities and can be provided here in Kingston.

Motorists Are Cautioned Albany, N. Y., Dec. 14 (AP)—Motorists were urged today to exert "redoubled vigilance" during the Christmas traffic rush to further reduce New York's automobile fatalities. About 70 persons are "marked for death" during the 11 days preceding Christmas, based on past statistics, State Motor Vehicle Commissioner Carroll E. Mealey said.

The city firemen have been rushed with both regular work and redecorating the toys for the past two weeks. The first part of next week the playthings will be removed to the municipal auditorium where members of the committee will assort and pack them and see that the less fortunate of Kingston receive boxes. Each box will contain candy and warm clothing in addition to the toys.

Church to Give Medieval Play

New Paltz, Dec. 14.—The morning of December 18, at 11 o'clock, the Choir Director George Gates will lead liturgical service based on the Christmas theme in the Dutch Reformed Church. This service, with its Christmas candle-light service to be given by the Choir Guild, the same date at 5 o'clock at the church, will usher in Christmas week. Instead of the usual selections of carols, the Guild will present at the candle-light service "A Mystery for Christmas" in the medieval manner the music arranged and composed by Prof. Howard D. McIlhenny, director of music at Rutgers University. This "mystery," although modern in origin, is based upon the idea of an old 16th century scriptural play. These were written for the church and acted in the choir or church and the characters occasionally appearing in the aisles. Permission has been obtained from the publishers, Fischer and Brother, of New York, to print the text and place it in the people's hands to follow the music and the action. The costumes will be authentic as possible, many of them secured from the board of foreign missions directly from Arabia. There will be 28 characters in the cast under the direction of Gordon Pine of New Paltz, who has had wide experience on the legitimate stage. The music will be directed by George Gates, and Mrs. DeWitt Clinton Seward at the organ. The public is invited to this service.

Prices of Trees, Says F.D.R., About Same as Last Year

Washington, Dec. 14 (AP)—About 1,000 American homes will be decorated for the holiday season with Christmas trees grown on President Roosevelt's estate in Dutchess county, N. Y.

The President said yesterday he thought his Christmas tree business was getting along all right and that he was selling about 1,000 trees this year.

Asked whether he was receiving a good price, he said it was about the same as last year.

Fish So Brainy They Actually Are Nervous

New York, Dec. 14 (AP)—The New York aquarium has three new fish—fish so brainy that they are nervous from carrying their weighty intelligence machinery.

The trio—members of the species Mormyrids—are believed the first of their kind ever brought to the United States. Scientists said their brains ranked second in weight only to man and the Anthropoid apes in proportion to their size.

Dr. Charles M. Breder, head of the aquarium, said the fish, brought from the Nile, were pictured in ancient hieroglyphics and that old Egyptians refused to molest them in the belief they harbored the souls of departed men.

The Mormyrids interested Dr. Breder so that he plans a trip to Africa to study them in their native habitat in the hope of finding to what use they put their enormous brains.

Securities Group Files Complaint

Washington, Dec. 14 (AP)—The securities commission announced today it had filed a bill of complaint charging Fidelity Investment Association, a company which it said had sold $600,000,000 in securities to the public, with fraudulent practices.

The complaint, which was filed in federal district court for the eastern district of Michigan, asked that the company be enjoined from selling securities in violation of federal and state laws.

The company has 38 district offices in leading cities throughout the country. The main office is in Wheeling, W. Va.

The commission's bill of complaint said about 60,000 purchasers throughout the United States have sent and are continuing to send in their monthly payments regularly to the company through the mails.

The company is an investment loan association. It sells investment contract certificates and bonds calling for initial and monthly payments by investors.
